ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

In 2011 The Lady Musgrave Trust, together with the Annual Homeless Forum's Working Group, sourced the contents for the first The Handy Guide for Homeless Women in Brisbane from a wide array of government and non-government agencies and service providers. The inaugural edition's print run of 2,000 copies was underwritten by the then Office for Women in the Queensland Government's Department of Communities. This Brisbane booklet is now in its eleventh edition.

As homelessness reaches beyond Brisbane, in April 2017, The Trust launched The Handy Guide for Homeless Women in Regional Queensland and the map-based online version of The Guide: thehandyguide.com. In 2020 we released the Handy Guide for Older Women in response to the announcement by the Australian Bureau of Statistics of a dramatic rise of 31% in older womens homelessness between the last two census periods.

This Handy Guide was made possible through the generous assistance of many organisations.

First, my thanks to Stephen Scott from Yet Another Creative for his research and content editing. Thanks also to the organisations in the booklet who send in their additions or updates.

My sincere thanks to the major supporters of this edition of the Handy Guide including North Harbour, The Cory Charitable Foundation, the Queensland Government, the Danks Trust and Morgans Foundation.

I also wish to thank the 2021 Forum Working Group for their support, which includes representatives from Centacare, Watson and Associates, Department of Housing and Queensland Health.

Over the next 12 months 16,000 hard copies of the Brisbane Handy Guide will be distributed, with a PDF version available online: ladymusgravetrust.org.au/the-handy-guide/.

The aim of all The Handy Guide for Homeless Women products was always simple: to provide practical, relevant and useful information on where to get help with a variety of issues that impact on women experiencing homelessness. This original concept remains true today.

We sincerely hope this booklet, together with all of the Handy Guide tools, will find their way to those who need it.

COVID-19 Stay Healthy and Stop the Spread

COVID-19 can spread quickly, and affects people differently. It only takes one person coming into a community with the virus to put the whole community at risk. Avoiding a large number of COVID-19 cases allows our health system to focus on treating patients who are in need of care.

Everyone who gets COVID-19 experiences it a little differently, with varying levels of severity and symptoms. Most only develop mild illness and recover easily, many don't display any symptoms at all, however some may require hospitalisation, and those suffering from extreme symptoms may take weeks or months to fully recover.

Common symptoms include a high fever and cough. Some people get a sore throat, shortness of breath, fatigue, aches and pains, headaches, runny / stuffy noses, loss of smell, loss of taste, nausea or vomiting, or a loss of appetite.

We do not have long-term research on health outcomes of COVID-19, however we do know that even even in mild cases the virus can damage the lungs, heart and brain, increasing the risk of long-term health problems.

Visit the covid19.qld.gov.au website for more information on identifying COVID-19, plus information on the latest updates - new hotspots (areas to avoid), current restrictions (whether masks are required); and also where you can get tested.

Viruses mutate as they spread throughout the population, creating new variants. Australia continues to have outbreaks of the original COVID-19, plus those by more infectious new strains like Delta and Kappa. Social distancing and good hygiene are key, but getting vaccinated will help not only yourself, but the whole community.

Vaccination

COVID-19 has joined diseases like measles, whooping cough, chicken pox and the flu in having vaccines to help protect us. All these diseases have been contained using the methods we are now using with COVID-19. As with any vaccine, it can't stop you from catching it, but improves your immune system's ability to fight and defeat the virus.

All vaccines used in Australia have passed tests to prove they are safe. Vaccination is voluntary and free. Vaccines require two doses - you must have both for it to be effective.

To get vaccinated, visit this link to check eligibility and locations.

qld.gov.au/health/conditions/health-alerts/coronavirus-covid-19/protect-yourself-others/covid-19-vaccine/book

And remember the basics on how to help stop the spread:

- wash your hands regularly (lathering your hands for 15-20 seconds)
- cover your coughs and sneezes (into your elbow)
- avoid touching your face
- practice social distancing - staying 1.5 metres away from other people (two large steps)
- wearing a mask stops the the virus being inhaled (or exhaled) via nose and mouth

Be kind to each other, and to those who are trying to help. Doctors, nurses, police, service providers and volunteers are all in the same boat as you, none want to catch the virus, and they are all working hard to help you.

People mean well, but can sometimes share incorrect information on social media.

SUPPORT CENTRES

These non-judgmental hubs are a good place to find local support services, information and help. What is provided depends on the centre, but remember that financial support is rarely provided over the phone and usually requires an in-person assessment, so it is best to visit a centre as soon as you think you might be approaching a crisis ... when in doubt, call ahead.

Early intervention helps prevent situations getting too out of control.

Neighbourhood and Community Centres are usually non-profit community-based organisations that provide spaces to meet and social activities.

Drop-In Centres usually provide more services, including a range of health, social, legal and government services. Some offer free access to the Internet and phones, and can often be registered as a mailing address if you do not have a permanent or consistent residence.

Assessment and Referral Services don't usually include drop-in services, but focus on longer-term solutions, like helping to organise identity documents (ID) or a printout of income statements; provide support letters for accessing government or community-based housing; inform you about emergency relief in your area including financial assistance, food and accommodation and even provide some of this assistance on-site.

EMERGENCY & SHORT TERM HOUSING

Places where you can ring and stay immediately or with a short intake process if a room is available. Instead of calling individual providers, you can call Homeless Hotline on 1800 47 47 53 for guidance on the best options for your situation.

Emergency & short-term housing offer rooms from one night to three months. Accommodation types vary by provider (share house / private room), as do eligibility criteria, costs, and waiting lists.

Some places listed are commercial with no wait times (e.g. hotels) but they also have standard rental fees, while others are subsidised and base rental on your income.

QHIP - Queensland Homelessness Information Platform

Many providers use Homeless Hotline's Queensland Homelessness Information Platform (QHIP), a secure online database that uses your personal information to assess your needs and match them with the most appropriate accommodation and support services. It means you only have to tell your story and share your details once.

The QHIP database administered by the Department of Housing and Public Works and cannot be accessed by any other government department, but may be accessed online by other QLD homelessness service providers in order for them to fulfil their duties to assist you.

It is completely up to you how much information you share with QHIP. The information you share may influence how your housing need is seen as a priority. Your personal information will not be shared without your consent unless you say it is OK to do so.

To go onto the database for homelessness accommodation the following information is essential:

- First name
- Last name
- Gender
- Date of Birth
- Age

Emergency Accommodation State Government Links

Useful links to helpful organisations, community and public housing, and how to get Proof of ID. qld.gov.au/housing/emergency-temporary-accommodation/emergency-accommodation

Temporary accommodation in private homes so you can escape abusive relationships before they escalate to physical violence. We can help if you are;

- at risk of or currently experiencing domestic or family abuse or;
- at risk of or currently experiencing homelessness due to domestic violence
- 18 Years or above (or accompanied by a guardian)
- eligible for Centrelink benefits or have access to personal funds
- confirmed to be low risk by a qualified risk assessment worker

How it works

After you call (or are referred by an approved Agency) to request a safe place to stay, we conduct an in-depth risk and needs assessment to determine your suitability.

If appropriate, you will be matched with an available Accommodation provider, with our Case Managers on hand for the duration of the stay to make sure everyone is safe and happy, and that the relationship is working well for everyone.

What Guests get

Access to fully supported, community-based temporary accommodation in the private homes of police-checked Accommodation Providers who offer a nurturing and supportive environment, free from fear, and physical, financial, emotional, verbal, sexual or spiritual abuse.

Guest stays range from three days to three months depending on your needs and the Accommodation Providers preferences. Safe Haven Community will then work with you to find medium or long-term accommodation opportunities.

Together we help to empower our Guests to live independently and move on with their lives.

We expect our Guests be willing to;

- adhere to the house rules and rooming accommodation agreement
- work with a Case Worker to address their personal needs
- work with nominated external service providers
- accept any reasonable offer of temporary accommodation

Budget Short- to Long-Term Housing: Hotels, Level 1 Boarding Houses (NDIS Support), Caravan Parks & Backpacker Hostels

Most hostels require a passport to stay at most hostels - if you don't have a passport, ask beforehand if they require one to avoid being turned away at the door.

Know your rights: If you are renting at a caravan park as a permanent resident you are covered under the Residential Tenancies and Rooming Accommodation Act.

If you are staying at a hotel-motel it is considered a holiday let and you do not have the same rights - that is, you can be removed without notice.

Suspended Coffees

Over time this movement has slowed, with many participants dropping out of the program and not publicly announcing their change. Those listed in italics have confirmed they still participate. The idea is based on the Italian tradition where someone buys a cup of coffee for themselves, and pre-pays for someone who can't afford it. Basically, you ask if there is a suspended coffee available to get a cup of coffee.

Information is provided by Suspended Coffee & Socially Just Cafes Brisbane and Queensland on Facebook. Their list is available via a pinned post at the top of their page.

Vans and Kitchens

These are mostly volunteer-run, community-based groups that offer a range of food and other services via mobile van or at a kitchen location. All listings are free except where indicated.

As most are operated by volunteers, this list should be used as guide only as times and locations may vary. Being voluntary, some providers may not have resources to operate during holiday periods, and obviously emergencies may cause the occasional cancellation.

Information has been sourced from individual providers and the VAKS website. For schedule changes contact the Provider directly (where available), visit vaks.com.au, or call the Homeless Hotline on 1800 47 47 53.

The Ecumenical Coffee Brigade (ECB) release monthly updates on inner city free food locations.

All are welcome to accept the respective service providers' hospitality, but patrons are advised that drug abuse, violence, sniffing of any substance, alcohol and weapons will not be tolerated.

Listings are sorted by Suburb / Day / Time

Getting your ID

If you are applying for any government housing or for allowances you will require a form of Type A identification like a driver's licence, an 18+ card, birth certificate or passport. If you do not have any of these, the Queensland Government has a handy step-by-step guide to follow:

1. Gather any information about yourself if you can. This can be:
 - a temporary Medicare card
 - a letter from a government department such as Centrelink
 - a letter from a temporary residence like a hostel (if that's where you are staying)
 - any other official papers that say who you are.
2. Get a Birth Certificate application form from a Magistrates Court, a QGAP office (Queensland Government service office) or online.
3. Complete and lodge the form (it costs $37 to process the application - If you don't have any money, find what financial help is available. Alternatively contact a community organisation like the Salvation Army who may be able to help).
4. If you (or the person helping you) have any questions about the form, phone: 1300 366 430 (Compliance section). NOTE: You must have a contact address, even if it is temporary, to get a reply. This can be a 'care of' your temporary accommodation like a hostel or a Housing Service Centre address.
5. Once lodged it will take 4-10 days to process, and longer if you were born outside of Queensland.
